2013 Match Results

This year the LSU School of Medicine had a very successful match.

Approximately 54% of the graduates will be staying in Louisiana for training in 2013. Our program will be taking 3 interns from LSU. The incoming intern class is listed below:

- Vanessa Cloutier (LSU-NO)
- Jay Davis (Meharry Med. College)
- Ashley O'Keefe (Marshall Univ. SOM)
- Tabitha Quebedeaux (LSU-NO)
- Eric Siegel (Med. College of GA)
- Ashley Van Wormer (LSU-NO)

Female Pelvic Medicine & Reconstructive Surgery Fellowship

Otherwise known as Urogyn, the fellowship is in the process of applying for fellowship accreditation with the ACGME. Under the direction of Dr. Lisa Peacock, fellows will have collaborative training opportunities within the departments of Urology and Colorectal Surgery as well. The subspecialty will become a legitimate part of the ACGME with the first group of physicians to take their boards this summer.

Clinical Community Outreach
Beginning in July 2013, the resident continuity clinic experience will change to better meet ACGME requirements. Each resident will be assigned to clinic on Wednesday, and the location will be the same for each resident for the entire year. We are expanding to four community clinic sites as well as solidifying additional clinical partnerships and look forward to forming new relationships in and around NOLA.
