RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP

Major Area of Research Interest:

My main areas of interest lie in areas of community and academic psychiatry, particularly in areas of contribution to our local community. In a field facing a critical workforce shortage, I am particularly aware of the responsibility we have to train the next generation of physicians. This is not only a professional duty but an ethical one. I am committed to continual growth and expertise in sub-specialties such as trauma, wellness, addiction psychiatry, perinatal mental health, and integrative psychiatry. I have found that focusing on administration and leadership has assisted this goal by not only providing direct care via my individual services, but in shaping departmental and institutional focus, with larger impact to benefit our community.
