

Now Hiring: Physician Investigator

The Louisiana State Board of Medical Examiners

("the Board") seeks a physician investigator to serve in a leadership role in its Investigation Division. This position is critically important to the Board's efforts to protect the health, welfare, and safety of Louisiana's citizens against unprofessional, improper, and unauthorized practice of medicine.

Job duties require the utilization of medical knowledge to assist with investigations; including, but not limited to: review of complaints filled with Board, review of medical records, collaboration with Investigation Division staff and Board attorneys, and the preparation of reports and recommendations to the Board. The position may also require presentations to licensees on matters relating to Board investigations.

Experience and qualifications of an ideal candidate includes the following: An active medical license in good standing without prior disciplinary history, current Board certification, a minimum of seven years of practice experience, and a demonstration of independence and leadership, such as experience as a Chief Resident or a Med Exec role. The ideal candidate would have excellent communication skills, the ability to work well in a team environment, and a deep commitment to the highest ethical standards of the medical profession.

Interested candidates should submit their resume and cover letter to LSBMEoperations@consultssa.com.
