

Guoban Kang
Research Manager, Viral Oncology

Education

Chinese Academy of Agricultural Sciences, masters in vegetable science, 2001
Beijing University of Agriculture, bachelors in horticulture, 1992

Guoban Kang is currently a research manager, viral oncology for the LSU LCMC Health Cancer Center where he is studying HIV-1 and Kaposi's sarcoma, a cancer commonly found in some people with a weakened immune system, pathogenesis, transmission, and prevention using single cell analysis.

Kang has a background in molecular biology and has years of experience in laboratory and animal science.