

Zhipin Liang, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor-Research

Education

Graduate/Medical

Nankai University, China Master of Science; Zoology 2010

Nankai University, China Ph.D.; Biochemistry Molecular Biology 2014

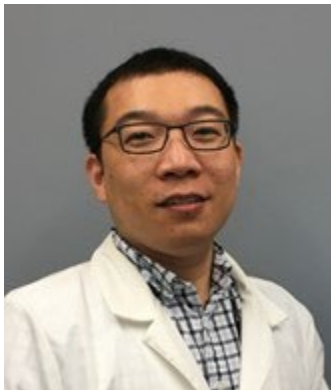

Post-Doctoral Fellowships

University of South Alabama, Mobile, AL Postdoctoral Fellowship, Mitchell Cancer Institute, 2014

LSU Health New Orleans, LA, Postdoctoral Fellowship; Department of Genetics, 2019

Undergraduate

Yantai University, China, Bachelor of Science; Bioscience

Dr. Zhipin Liang is an assistant professor of research in the department of genetics at LSU Health New Orleans. Dr. Liang received his Ph.D. degree from Nankai University in 2014. Dr. Liang's research interests are in cancer prevention and cancer immunotherapy.

Research Interests

- The roles of microRNAs in cancer prevention.
- Sulindac and breast cancer immunotherapy.