

Every year students, faculty, and staff from LSUHSC volunteer at the ¿Que Pasa? Festival in New Orleans, Louisiana. This year on October 5th, 2019 we will be distributing information on breast cancer, diabetes, and more. The team will also display the opportunities LSU Health New Orleans provides for students of all ages and teachers. Additionally we will share information about the K-12 and undergraduate programs such as the school partnerships and summer internships. Like all the years before, children will have the chance to dress up like scientists and LSUHSC students will measure blood pressure.

To Volunteer, click here.

