Faculty Development - Thinking Like a Doctor

Faculty, please take a look at this video (11 minutes) which describes the RIME scheme of medical student evaluation (Reporter, Interpreter, Manager, and Educator). This terminology not only helps in giving feedback to students and residents, but also helps in writing good evaluations for our learners and grading our H&Ps, presentations and notes.

For questions or comments regarding Faculty Development, please contact Amy Prudhomme, Jessica Patrick-Esteve or Amy Creel. (video)

Our own LSU Pediatrics Resident Quiz Bowl team was selected to compete at the National AAP Conference! The competition will be on October 27, 2019 at the national meeting here in New Orleans. Representing our wonderful residents will be Monica Hajirawala, Casie James, Program Director Chelsey Sandlin, Jordan Lim and Tyler Kingdon.

A panel of pediatric residents met a few weeks with the Pediatric Interest Group at LSUHSC to discuss their decision to pursue a career in pediatrics and their current work. The Pediatric Interest Group is moderated by Dr. Barkemeyer and made up of first and second year medical students considering pediatrics as a career. Pictured from left to right are Drs. Caitlyn Saylor, Michelle Duplantier, Amanda Glinky, and Matt Shapiro. These current residents represented our department in an exemplary manner to some of our future pediatric residents. Dr. Saylor, former Pediatric Interest Group president in 2013-14, achieved legendary status by participating in this session for three consecutive years as a resident.

Under the leadership of Dr. Lexy Morvant, LSU medical students from the Gold Humanism Honor Society celebrated the inaugural GHHS "Thank a Resident Day". They showed their gratitude to the LSU pediatric residents with snacks, cards of thanks and a banner in the CHNOLA pavilion. The group collected cards from Dean Nelson, LSU DOP leadership, Pelican Krewe, and CHNOLA leadership. Dr. Morvant and the honor society hope to continue this tradition next year!
