Faculty Development - Orienting your learner:

- Lays the foundation for your time together
- Sets expectations
- Enables a learner to be more efficient!

Orientation is a critical step and needs to happen for all learning encounters - it doesn't matter if you are with the learner for a few hours, one week, or a 3 year continuity clinic experience. The orientation sets the stage for what is to occur and what the expectations are on behalf of both the teacher AND the learner. Perhaps even more critical if learner just with you for a short time.

For questions or comments regarding Faculty Development, please contact Amy Prudhomme, Jessica Patrick-Esteve or Amy Creel. (video)
