

PSYCHIATRY INTEREST GROUP

“[I] have learned both from the nuanced analytic thinking of psychoanalysis and psychiatry and from the rigorous methods of modern biology.”

-Dr. Eric Kandel, 2000 Nobel Prize for Medicine

Why Psychiatry?

Stable mental health is the cornerstone of our lives-- but it is often taken for granted. Psychiatrists understand this—whether it’s anxiety, depression or addiction, or something less common like schizophrenia or OCD, psychiatrists reach out with empathy to heal people’s selves, not just their bodies. This places psychiatry in a unique position amongst the medical specialties—it explores the frontiers of not only biology, but cognition, identity, and society, in search of a better life for everyone.

We are excited to offer many enriching opportunities this coming year! Join us for seminars, discussions, case studies, research help, and volunteering events!

Dues will be 20$ for T-shirts and lunch at meetings.
